

MYTH: A good mother would never give up her child or place her baby for adoption

FACT: A really caring mother makes sure that her baby has a stable home in which to grow up, where loving parents provide the needed financial support and structure for children to develop in every aspect of their lives

MYTH: "Choosing Adoption" means you don't ever deserve to be a mother or that you are a bad person

FACT: A mother who unselfishly creates an adoption plan for her baby is placing the child's best interests above her own. It is an ultimate sacrifice for a mother to choose life for her baby when she decides that adoption is the best option for her child. Adoption is a caring process that is a loving choice made by a responsible parent to give your child the life you always dreamed of having. And in this process you will have brought joy into the life of the adoptive family who may not be able to have their own child. Knowing that you did the right thing for your child and for the adoptive family will bring you much comfort and peace.

MYTH: My child will grow up to hate me

FACT: In reality, through adoption you give your baby the absolute best chance to succeed in life by growing up in a stable loving home. Your child will be surrounded with a loving family unit that can provide the financial security and emotional support you would desire to give if you were able. How could your child ever hate you for giving them a greater chance to succeed in life? Placing your baby's welfare above your own natural desires is the greatest gift you can give a child and one of the most noble decisions a person could ever make.

SUPPORT

During your pregnancy and for a period after you deliver your baby, support for housing and living expenses are available for women who are choosing the adoption option.
